CHAIRMAN'S REMARKS

The Commission underwent a very hectic period between April 2011 and March 2012 during which it engaged in three main activities:

- 1) the boundaries review process to add three new constituencies;
- 2) the conduct of two national elections (General Elections in December 2011 and Local Government Elections in March 2012); and
- 3) the submission of its Report to Parliament on Campaign Financing.

Over the last year, therefore, the Commission sought to review the effectiveness of its operations with a view to outlining a road map for the future growth and development of the electoral system.

While conducting the internal assessments, the Commission continued to carry out its regular activities with respect to the registration of new electors; verification of the address given by applicants; the removal of dead electors from the voters' list and the publication of voters' lists on May 31 and November 30.

Of major significance was the resignation of long-serving EAC/ECJ Chairman Professor Emeritus the Hon. Errol Miller, at the end of December 2012. His resignation brought to an end over 12 years of sterling service to the people of Jamaica in the area of elections management.

The Commission as a body will seek to continue to build on the legacy of previous commissioners to ensure Jamaica continues to have a world class electoral system of which the entire nation can continue to be proud.

CHAPTER 1

INTRODUCTION

In October 2006, the House of Representatives and the Senate passed the Electoral Commission (Interim) Act 2006, which established the Electoral Commission of Jamaica (ECJ). This fulfilled the undertaking made in the Representation of the People Act (ROPA) 1979 to create the ECJ following the establishment of the Electoral Advisory Committee (EAC). The ECJ came into being December 1, 2006.

The Act conferred upon the Commission the authority to safeguard the democratic foundations of Jamaica by enabling eligible electors at periodic intervals to elect their representatives through free and fair elections. The Act also conferred upon the Commission the responsibility to advise Parliament on the number of constituencies into which Jamaica should be divided and their boundaries. The Commission has the responsibility to ensure that Government, Opposition and civil society participates in the formulation of policies guiding the electoral process. The Commission is charged with conducting all elections and referenda in an impartial, fair and ethical manner that is consistent with the highest standards of integrity.

In addition to conducting General Elections, Local Government Elections, By-elections or Referenda, the Commission has the responsibility for compiling and maintaining the register of eligible electors and verifying the identity of every eligible elector.

During the reporting period April 1, 2012 to March 31, 2013, the Electoral Commission:

- (a) continued the process of continuous registration, publishing two voters lists as required by law;
- (b) reviewed the reports submitted to Parliament on campaign financing
- (c) undertook a special project to remove dead electors from the Voters' list.
- (d) reviewed aspects of the various electoral laws.

COMPOSITON AND MECHANISMS OF THE ECJ

The Electoral Commission comprises nine members: four selected commissioners, four nominated commissioners appointed by the Governor General, and the Director of Elections.

During the period January 1, 2013 to March 20, 2013, the Commission in keeping with statute, at the start of each meeting, elected one of the Selected Commissioners to chair the proceedings.

A new Commissioner was appointed on March 5, 2013 in the person of Mr Earl Jarrett to fill the vacancy. Dr. Herbert Thompson was elected Chairman on March 20, 2013 in keeping with the regulations which requires that the selected members elect one of their members to be Chairman of the Commission.

Fisher's electoral experience spans national elections, and he has represented the EOJ on numerous overseas observer missions and conferences.

MECHANISMS

The work of the Electoral Commission can be conveniently divided into three basic components.

1. First is the on-going work of the Electoral Office related to continuous voter registration; the publication of two voters' lists annually, ID card distribution and the preparation for and conduct of elections.
2. Second are the responsibilities related to advising Parliament on boundaries and policy formulation on electoral matters, all of which culminate in reports to Parliament; and budget and financial operations of the Commission.
3. Third is representation of the Commission at conferences, missions and other events, nationally, regionally and internationally.

The work of the Commission is done through four standing committees:

- a. The Standing Committee on Finance and Administration;
- b. The Legal Standing Committee;
- c. The Standing Committee on the Registration and Financing of Political Parties and Campaign Financing; and
- d. The Boundaries Committee.

Each Standing Committee meets once per month. The Standing Committees are composed of a Selected Commissioner, one Nominated Commissioner each from the Prime Minister and Leader of the Opposition, the Director and such staff as he may choose in relation to a particular subject. A Selected Commissioner chairs each Committee.

Reports from Standing Committees are scheduled items on the Agenda of specific meetings of the Commission. The Commission continued its practice of meeting on the first and third Wednesday of each month except for August. In the months leading up to the elections however, the Commission increased its meetings to weekly.

1. The Standing Committee on Finance and Administration

The Finance and Administration Committee monitors the finances of the Commission and gives general oversight on matters of Administration. Specifically, the Commission requires the Director of Elections to prepare an Annual Budget and monthly Financial Statements which are first presented to the Committee. The Committee then brings to the Commission all matters related to finance and administration that require its attention. The Committee is also charged with monitoring the payment of statutory deductions of employees and to ensure that such payments to the relevant bodies are up-to-date.

Members

- Dr Herbert Thompson – Chairman (April 2012 – February 2013)
- Mr Earl Jarrett – Selected Commissioner, Chairman (March 2013)
- Dr D.K. Duncan - Nominated Commissioner, (Prime Minister)
- Mr Aundre Franklin - Nominated Commissioner (Leader of the Opposition)
- Mr Orrette Fisher - Director of Elections
- Miss Sandra Williams - Director of Finance & Accounts
- Mr Glasspole Brown - Asst. Director of Administration

The Standing Committee on Finance and Administration meets on the fourth Wednesday of each month.

2. The Legal Standing Committee

The Legal Standing Committee reviews all matters of a legal nature related to the Commission, including proposed amendments to the electoral law, and advises the Commission accordingly.

Members

- The Hon. Justice Clarence Walker, C.D., Selected Commissioner, Chairman
- The Hon. Peter Bunting, Nominated Commissioner (Prime Minister)
- Senator Thomas Tavares-Finson, Nominated Commissioner (Leader of the Opposition)
- Mr Orrette Fisher, Director of Elections

- Miss Pauline Welsh, Director of Legal Affairs, Training and Development

3. The Standing Committee on the Registration and Financing of Political Parties and Campaign Financing

The Standing Committee on Political Party and Campaign Financing was established with sequential responsibilities. In the first instance, the Committee was established to conduct the process by which the Commission could submit Reports to Parliament on the matters of the registration and financing of political parties and campaign financing. Following the enactment of legislation by Parliament, based on the recommendations of the Commission on both matters, the Standing Committee on the Registration and Financing of Political Parties and Campaign Financing will have the responsibility to monitor the operations of the Commission in these areas.

Members

- The Hon. Dorothy Pine-McLarty, Selected Commissioner, Chairman
- The Hon. Peter Bunting, Nominated Commissioner (representing the Prime Minister)
- Senator Thomas Tavares-Finson, Nominated Commissioner (representing the Leader of the Opposition)
- Mr Orrette Fisher, Director of Elections
- Miss Pauline Welsh, Director of Legal Affairs, Training and Development

4. Boundaries Committee

The Boundaries Committee chaired by the Chairman of the Commission, is composed of the full members of the Commission. The last general review of boundaries was completed in March 2010 therefore the Committee did not meet during the reporting period. The Commission submitted the report of that review to Parliament in March 2011, seeking the power to prescribe electoral division boundaries, as this authority which existed under the EAC, was not transferred to the ECJ. As soon as the legislative amendments have been made, the Commission is planning a full review of the Electoral Division Boundaries. To date, the amendment has not been passed. The next general review of constituency boundaries review is due April 1, 2014 to March 31, 2016.

MAJOR ACTIVITIES

During the reporting year, the Commission focused its attention primarily on the following areas:

- Electoral Reform;
- Continuous Registration and the Publication of Voters' Lists;
- Dead elector removal from the Voters' List
- ID Card Distribution;
- Documenting the work of the Electoral Advisory Committee;
- Elections; and
- Regional and international Elections Observation Missions (EOMs) and other electoral conferences and events.

Chapter 2

ELECTORAL REFORM

The Jamaican electoral system has made great progress over the last 31 years since the establishment of the Electoral Advisory Committee (EAC). This has been a result of the collective effort of a large number of persons including members of government, political parties, religious denominations, civil society organizations and concerned individuals. The progress has been acknowledged locally and internationally.

Despite this progress and international recognition, there is still room for improvement in some areas. In addition, it is not prudent for the laws to remain static in face of improvements in the infrastructure of the country, advancements and new inventions in technology, changes in the behaviour of the electorate and other points of conflict that arise in the execution of elections that can be resolved by legal amendments and more explicit instructions.

The Commission continued to work on electoral reforms, and while no new reports were submitted

The following reports have been approved by Parliament but not yet enacted into law.

1. Report to Parliament on Continuing Legal Reform

- Aspects of the report dealing with the transfer of indoor agents, the use of motor vehicles on Election Day and the presentation of the disaggregated lists to candidates were passed in 2011. Other aspects, however, concerning the postponement of elections and the role of the Constituted Authority were not passed. The outstanding areas are being included in a new report on continuing legal reform to be submitted in the new year.

2. Registration and financing of political parties. This report was submitted in July 2010 and passed in 2012. A draft of the legislation was sent to the Commission which is being reviewed prior to being returned to the Chief Parliamentary Counsel.

3. Campaign Financing. The report on campaign financing was submitted in November 2011. It was debated and passed in 2012 by both houses. During the debate, however, a number of concerns were raised and so a decision was made to send the report back to the Commission with a view of having some of the expressed concerns addressed. The review is being conducted and is expected to be completed in 2012/2013

The following reports have been submitted but not yet approved by Parliament.

1. Electoral Divisions and Publication of the Voters' List

- The November 2011 Amendments to the Kingston and St. Andrew Corporation and Parish Council Acts to empower the Electoral Commission to prescribe Electoral Division Boundaries.
- The amendment to ROPA explicitly prohibiting the publication of any voters' list between Nomination and Election Day.

2. Amendments to the Electoral Commission (Interim) Act 2006 (October, 2010)

- The functions of the Commission
- The composition of the Commission

3. Recommendation for the removal of minimum mandatory sentencing guidelines submitted July, 2007.

CONTINUOUS REGISTRATION AND THE PUBLICATION OF VOTERS' LISTS

CONTINUOUS REGISTRATION

There are 71 fixed registration centres island-wide where the Electoral Commission continues the registration of voters who achieve the legal age of 18 years, or who were already 18 but had not previously registered. Such persons are required to visit the fixed registration centre, preferably within their constituency, to have their biographic data, photograph and fingerprints captured. Prior to being processed such persons must have their residence verified by the staff of the Electoral Office accompanied by scrutineers from the two major political parties.

External Applications

Applicants who might find it more convenient to apply for registration at a centre other than the one in the constituency where they reside can still do so. Such applications are treated as external applications by the constituency taking the application. On completion, the application form is sent to the constituency within which the elector resides for further processing and residence verification.

VOTERS' LISTS

Consistent with the requirements of the ROPA, the Electoral Commission publishes two Voters' Lists each year, on May 31 and November 30. Taking into consideration that voter registration is continuous, the cut-off date for the registration of applicants who will be included as electors on the May 31st voters' list is March 31st, and the cut-off date for registration of applicants who will be included as electors on the November 30th voters' list is September 30th.

Since the start of continuous registration in April 1999, a total of 909,403 applications for registration have been received.

Publication of Voters' List

a) May 31, 2012, Voters' List

The May 31, 2012 voters' list was published as scheduled. A total of 28,387 electors were added from applications collected during the registration period October 1, 2011– March 31, 2012. The names of 4,185 electors were deleted primarily because of death. The total number of persons on the May 31, 2012 voters' list was 1,672,238.

b) November 30, 2012 Voters' List

The November 30, 2012 voters' list was also published as scheduled. A total of 31,827 electors were added from applications collected during the registration period April 1, 2012 to September 30, 2012 and 11,204 voters were removed mainly because of death. The total number of electors on the November 30, 2012 voter' list was 1,692,861.

Constituency Sizes

The Constitution of Jamaica sets an upper and lower limit for the size of a constituency. In determining the upper limit, the size of a constituency should not exceed the average (national) constituency size by more than 50%.

On the other hand, the lower limit should not be less than 2/3 the national average constituency size.

Based on the May 31, 2012 voters list, there are no constituencies in breach of either the upper or the lower limits. See Appendices 1, 2 and 3.

Number of Constituencies per Parish

The electoral quotient has been established as the guide to determine the number of constituencies in each parish. This is calculated by dividing the number of electors in each parish by the national average. A breakdown for the May 31, 2012 voters list is shown in Table 1.

Table 1: Number of Constituencies by Parish and Total Electors in Parish Divided by National Average and Present Number of Constituencies

Parish	Total electors in parish	Total electors in parish divided by national average	Present number of constituencies
Kingston	63,231	2.36	3
St. Andrew	309,111	11.53	12
St. Thomas	63,927	2.38	2
Portland	53,200	1.98	2
St. Mary	80,099	2.99	3
St. Ann	118,085	4.40	4
Trelawny	52,002	1.94	2
St. James	125,506	4.68	5
Hanover	50,925	1.90	2
Westmoreland	94,076	3.51	3
St. Elizabeth	106,123	3.96	4
Manchester	114,435	4.27	4
Clarendon	155,060	5.78	6
St. Catherine	303,900	11.33	11
TOTAL		63	63

If the current trend continues, Westmoreland will qualify for an additional constituency while Kingston is likely to lose a constituency.

Monthly Meetings

Each Returning Officer is required to convene monthly meetings with the Electoral Office staff and political stakeholders in the constituency. These include parliamentarians, caretakers or their respective representatives, councillors and councillor caretakers and political liaison officers. These meetings have been very effective in ensuring the smooth flow of information between the Electoral Office and the political representatives at the local level. Appendix 4 shows the level of attendance of Political Representatives for the year in each constituency.

Dead Elector Removal from the Voters' List

The issue of dead electors being on the Voters' List was raised at various points during the Parliamentary Elections of December 2011 and the Local Government Elections held in March 2012. The commission decided that in addition to the traditional approach, it would seek to introduce additional measures to further remove the names of dead persons from the list.

The traditional methods included

1. The removal of names of person identified in the constituency by way of
 - I. Gleaner advertisements
 - II. Funeral programmes
 - III. Reports from persons in the constituency
 - IV. Reports from political representatives in the constituency
2. Examining the list of persons provided by the Registrar Generals' Department with a view to matching them with persons on the list, which once confirmed is removed.

In addition to these approaches the commission had decided to

1. Ask candidates contesting the General Elections to provide the office with the names of any persons identified as dead during their on the ground canvass.
2. In light of budgetary constraints which would prevent full residence verification, visit the 73,000 persons on the list over the age of 70, to confirm that they were still resident at the address given. Following the completion of this exercise a new age cohort would be visited.

Arising from the combined approaches a total of 12,572 dead electors were removed from the Voters' list published in May 2012 and November 2012 compared with a total of 5,923 over the corresponding period in the previous year.

IDENTIFICATION CARD DISTRIBUTION

PRODUCTION AND DISTRIBUTION OF ID CARDS

Identification cards are produced for all duly registered electors. Once produced, the cards are sent to the respective constituency offices to be collected by electors. Since the beginning of continuous registration in October, 1999, a total of 1,757,246 cards have been produced, and a total of 1,411,617 or 80% delivered to electors.

Of the 72,461 cards produced during the period April 1, 2012 to March 31, 2013, 61,592 or 85% were delivered. This showed that electors are collecting the current cards and that historically there is a remnant that will never be collected either because the elector might have died or migrated. The Electoral Office will continue the initiatives below in seeking to deliver ID cards to electors as follows:

- i) set up temporary distribution centres (satellite sites) in targeted areas in selected constituencies;
- ii) placed ads in the print and electronic media urging persons to collect their identification cards; and
- iii) Gave the names of persons who had not collected their identification cards to the political representatives in the constituencies for them to urge their supporters to do so.

Chapter 5
ELECTIONS

No National or By-Election was held during the reporting period.

DOCUMENTING THE WORK OF THE EAC

The Electoral Commission came into being on December 1, 2006 following the repeal of the Representation of the People (Interim Electoral Reform) Act of 1979 which supported the existence of the Electoral Advisory Committee (EAC).

Recognising the positive impact the EAC had on the electoral landscape and the tremendous work put in by both nominated and selected commissioners over the years, the Commission in 2010 took a decision to compile a historical documentation of this important facet of the nation's electoral and political history.

Six of the leading research scholars and institutions were invited to bid on the project to document the work of the EAC. At the end of the selection process Northern Caribbean University was selected as the preferred bidder. A contract was subsequently signed for $6.4 million. During the reporting period researchers conducted interviews with several members of the then Electoral Advisory Committee as key past and present staff members of the Electoral Office.

A first draft of the document was submitted to the Commission for vetting and approval in August 2011. Following the review of this draft, a second draft was scheduled to be submitted by December 31, 2011. The pending draft was not submitted to the commission until after March 31, 2012, due to the heightened election activity during the period.

The review of the 2nd draft showed that the areas of weakness identified in the earlier report were not corrected. The commission was therefore unable to sign off on the document. Following the review the lead researcher was unavailable to make the changes within a reasonable timeframe due to illness. A formal request was made for an extension of the time and it was agreed that the final document would be presented to the Commission in June 2012.

The report did not meet the satisfaction of the Commission and another rewrite is now being undertaken by the researcher.

REGIONAL AND INTERNATIONAL ENGAGEMENTS

The Electoral Commission periodically engages in activities and events that provide exposure to regional and international best practices and standards. These engagements include memberships in regional and international bodies and attendances at meetings, conferences, seminars, workshops, observation of elections and lending assistance to other electoral organizations.

FINANCIAL REPORT

1. Financial Statement

The audited financial statements of the Commission for the year April 1, 2012- March 31, 2013 are appended to this chapter.

2. Pension Regulations

The Representation of the People (Electoral Advisory Committee) (Employees Retiring Benefits) and (Director of Elections Retiring Benefits) regulations of 1990 went out of existence with the repeal of the Representation of the People (Interim Electoral Reform) Act on November 30, 2006.

The Electoral Commission of Jamaica came into being on December 1, 2006 by virtue of the Electoral Commission (Interim) Act. As a result the Electoral Commission of Jamaica (ECJ) drafted the following regulations to replace the ones which went out with the Electoral Advisory Committee (EAC):

- i. The Electoral Commission (Employees Retiring Benefits) Regulations
- ii. The Electoral Commission (Director of Elections Retiring Benefits) Regulations.

In addition, new regulations 'The Electoral Commission (Commissioners Retiring Benefits) Regulations' were drafted to regulate pension for members of the Commission.

The draft regulations were submitted by the Commission to the Permanent Secretary of the Ministry of National Security who then submitted them to the Office of the Chief Parliamentary Counsel. Through interaction between the Legal Committee of the Commission and the Office of the Chief Parliamentary Counsel the drafting process was completed in February, 2008. On February 20, 2008, the Draft Pension Regulations were sent to the Permanent Secretary of the Ministry of National Security for Minister Responsible for Electoral Matters to take the appropriate steps for approval of these Regulations by the Committee prescribed by the Electoral Commission (Interim) Act, 2006. The Pension Regulations for the Commission were approved.

3. Emoluments Commissioners and Senior Managers
